Harley-Davidson Poker Chips

by Rich Bottles Jr.

Harley-Davidson motorcycles have long been known for Poker Runs, which are charitable drives where participants pick up playing cards at various stops and try to form the best poker hand, but now Poker Chips are becoming popular with Harley enthusiasts.

If there's one thing a Harley-Davidson owner can't pass up while on the open road, it's a Harley dealership that they haven't visited before. Usually a visit to a previously unknown dealership would include the purchase of a souvenir T-shirt, shot glass or other expensive collectible, but collectors' closets, cupboards and display cases soon became overwhelmed with merchandise and their wallets consequently became thinner on every subsequent ride.

A few years ago, the availability of dealer-specific Poker Chips solved the dilemma of hoarding pricey Harley souvenirs. Dealerships across the country began offering colorful Poker Chips with their store's logo, name and location, usually just charging a buck a piece for the tokens. Poker Chips don't take up a lot of room (especially when driving home on a motorcycle) and can be prominently displayed at home in a frame or in a properly-sized coin album. It's no wonder that Poker Chips have become a popular collectible with the Harley-Davidson crowd.

I found a pair of poker chips from New Castle (see cover) on eBay, but then went on the dealer's website and noticed different ones being offered. Unfortunately, it's not possible to buy the chips through the website. This means I'll have to try to find the dealership the next time I am in the New Castle area, if I want to get as many colored varieties as possible. I'll also have to try to visit some of the other Harley dealerships in western Pennsylvania to see if they offer these Poker Chip storecards. Clinton County Collectable

By Rich Bottles Jr.

A disturbing trend on eBay has sellers offering wooden nickels with starting bids of more than $5, which is outrageous for many veteran token collectors (especially when the sellers haven't a clue how to safely ship the woods). But one Pennsylvania County has found a way to add extra value to the commemorative nickels that it offered for $5 apiece this year.

Clinton County celebrated its 175th Anniversary this year and issued 500 wooden nickels to memorialize the occasion. The wooden nickels all feature the official anniversary logo on the front, but have hand-written numbers (1-500) on the back.

During a Best of Clinton County Summer Festival on June 21, the county commissioners began randomly announcing the winning numbers for those who purchased the nickels. The commission will continue picking numbers until an End-of-the-Year Celebration on December 3.

Purchasers lucky enough to be holding a wooden nickel with a winning number will receive prizes such as 175th Anniversary blankets, commemorative pins, a yearbook containing event photographs, and other prizes.

According to "The Express" local newspaper, Fundraising Committee Chairman Jeff Snyder, who is credited with devising the wooden nickel issue, commented, "These wooden nickels are pretty special. Not only do you get a memento of the 175th Anniversary of Clinton County, but you also have an opportunity to win a prize."

The county website explains that "Clinton County was created by an act of Legislature on June 21, 1839 from parts of Centre and Lycoming Counties. It is bounded on the north by Potter and Lycoming Counties; on the east by Lycoming and Union; on the south by Centre; and on the west by Clearfield and Cameron. The county is sixty miles long, twenty miles wide and covers an area of 878 square miles. Today Clinton County has a population of 39,328. The County seat is the city of Lock Haven. The county includes seven boroughs: Avis, Beech Creek, Flemington, Loganton, Mill Hall, Renovo and South Renovo boroughs. The county has 21 townships: Allison, Bald Eagle, Beech Creek, Castanea, Chapman, Colebrook, Crawford, Dunnstable, East Keating, Gallagher, Greene, Grugan, Lamar, Leidy, Logan, Noyes, Pine Creek, Porter, Wayne, West Keating and Woodward."

The obverse inscription of the wooden nickel reads: Clinton County Pennsylvania / (a colorful memorial plaque with the words CELEBRATING / 175/ YEARS / CLINTON COUNTY, PA / Est. June 21, 1839) / 1839 – 2014.

The reverse is blank, except for a hand-written number.
